Timing is everything. Your reflexes, however, are another story.

Avoid obstacles, and escape before the timer runs out.

When in doubt, blame the keyboard and the developers.

Now you're ready to become a pixelated mastermind! Good luck, and remember: if you fail, you can always try again.

In the heart of New York City, lies the BIG APPLE BANK, a towering fortress of wealth and security. Beneath its marble floors and polished brass decor, hidden deep within the most guarded vault, rests the BIG APPLE DIAMOND – a gem so massive, so dazzling, it could blind you faster than your bank account after rent is due.

And you? You're THE "Slick" McHeist, THE "TOKYO SEXWALE", Queen's "Willie Stroker", a world-class thief with nerves of steel, a heart of gold (okay, maybe bronze), and a taste for the finer things in life-like massive diamonds. You've spent months planning, studying blueprints, and watching suspiciously grainy surveillance footage. Tonight's the night.

The plan is simple:

Get in. Easy enough, right? Just dodge the laser grids, crack the vault, and avoid tripping any alarms.

Steal the BIG APPLE DIAMOND. The centerpiece of the vault, it's bigger than your head and ten times as valuable.

Get out. This is the tricky part. The bank is rigged with traps, buggy platforms, and precarious pathways that no one in their right mind would ever design for a functional building.

As you pocket the diamond and make your daring escape, the bank's security system goes haywire, turning the entire building into a deathtrap. Alarms blare, platforms collapse, and laser grids turn into a light show of doom. You've got one chance to escape before the cops show up—and they won't be impressed by your "artistic interpretation of capitalism."

YOUR MISSION

Navigate the chaotic maze of collapsing platforms and imaginary obstacles. Can you survive the traps, keep your footing on the glitchiest platforms imaginable, and escape with the BIG APPLE DIAMOND?

Or will you become just another cautionary tale whispered among the criminal underworld: "Don't be like Slick McHeist?"

The choice is yours. The stakes are high. And the diamond? It's heavy. So stop reading and start running!

can you escape...?
